

Jochebed Heiland, Senior Policy Advisor at the Ministry of Economic Affairs (NL)

Jochebed Heiland is Senior Policy Advisor at the Ministry of Economic Affairs and is responsible for advising on government regulations to address the equity gap. Amongst other things she is in charge of developing proposals to encourage informal investment according to the intentions of the Dutch government.

Prior to working at the Ministry of Economic Affairs, Jochebed was special advisor to the Minister for the Interior and Kingdom Relations concerning the negotiations to reform the constitutional relationships with the Netherlands Antilles.

Jochebed has also worked as a financial policy advisor at the Ministry of Social Affairs and Employment and was formerly a tax consultant with Ernst & Young. Jochebed has studied Fiscal Economics at the University of Maastricht, where she specialized in Public Sector Economics.